National Pollution Prevention Roundtable Appoints New Mexico Pollution Prevention Coordinator to Board of Directors

(Santa Fe, NM) The National Pollution Prevention Roundtable has appointed New Mexico Environment Department Pollution Prevention Coordinator Michelle Vattano its Board of Directors.

Vattano will serve on the Board, also known as the NPPR, to set policy and direction, support the board's mission, goals and objectives and support the financial health of the organization.

"Vattano has served successfully as our Prevention Pollution Coordinator for many years," said New Mexico Environment Department Secretary Ron Curry. "She will bring valuable knowledge and experience to the board."

Vattano, who will serve a three year term, join a 15-member board consisting of one representative from each of the 10 EPA regions. The board includes four at-large positions and a past chair.

"This is an exciting opportunity to provide a voice for New Mexico on pollution prevention issues and to be able to provide input on policy and direction of pollution prevention issues in Region 6," Vattano said. "We have a lot of environmental challenges, both on a national level and regional level. I'm excited to be a voice at the table for New Mexico."
